
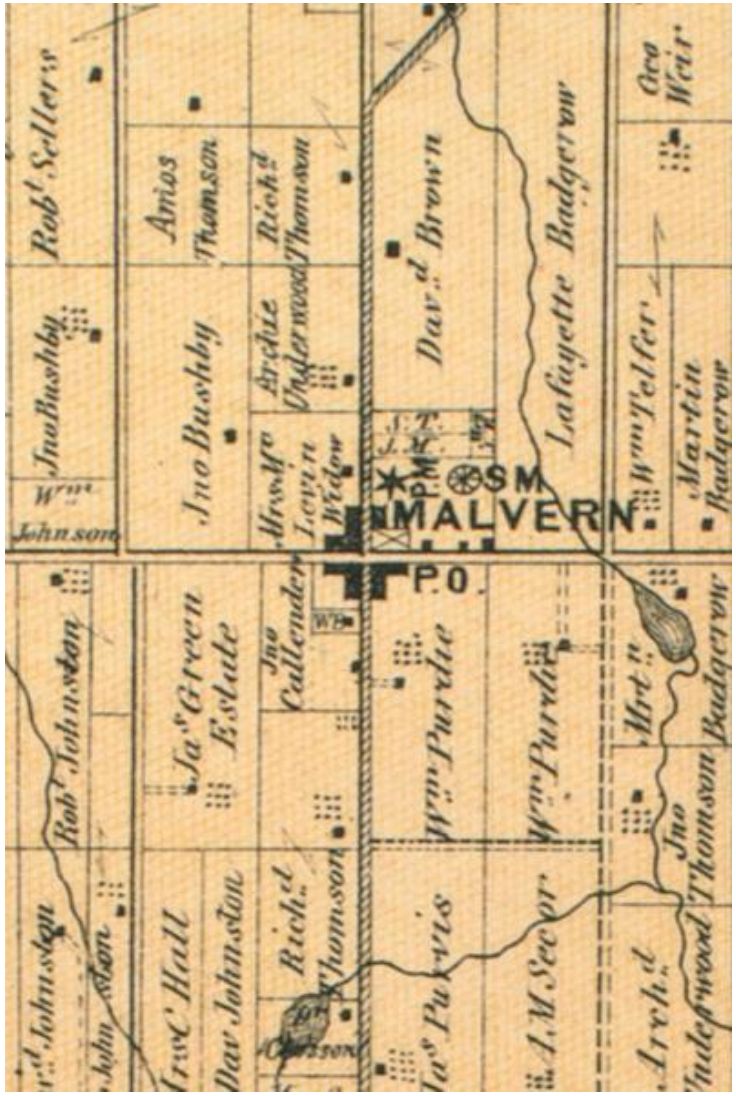
Malvern Branch

Monday, September 8, 2014

Toronto Public Library Board Meeting

The evolution of Malvern



1856 – Malvern was officially named after a resort town in England when a post office was established in a general store owned by David Brown

The evolution of library service

The evolution of library service in Malvern

The evolution of library service in Malvern

The evolution of library service in Malvern

The evolution of library service in Malvern

2005

The renovated Malvern Branch opens

Malvern

Defining our community

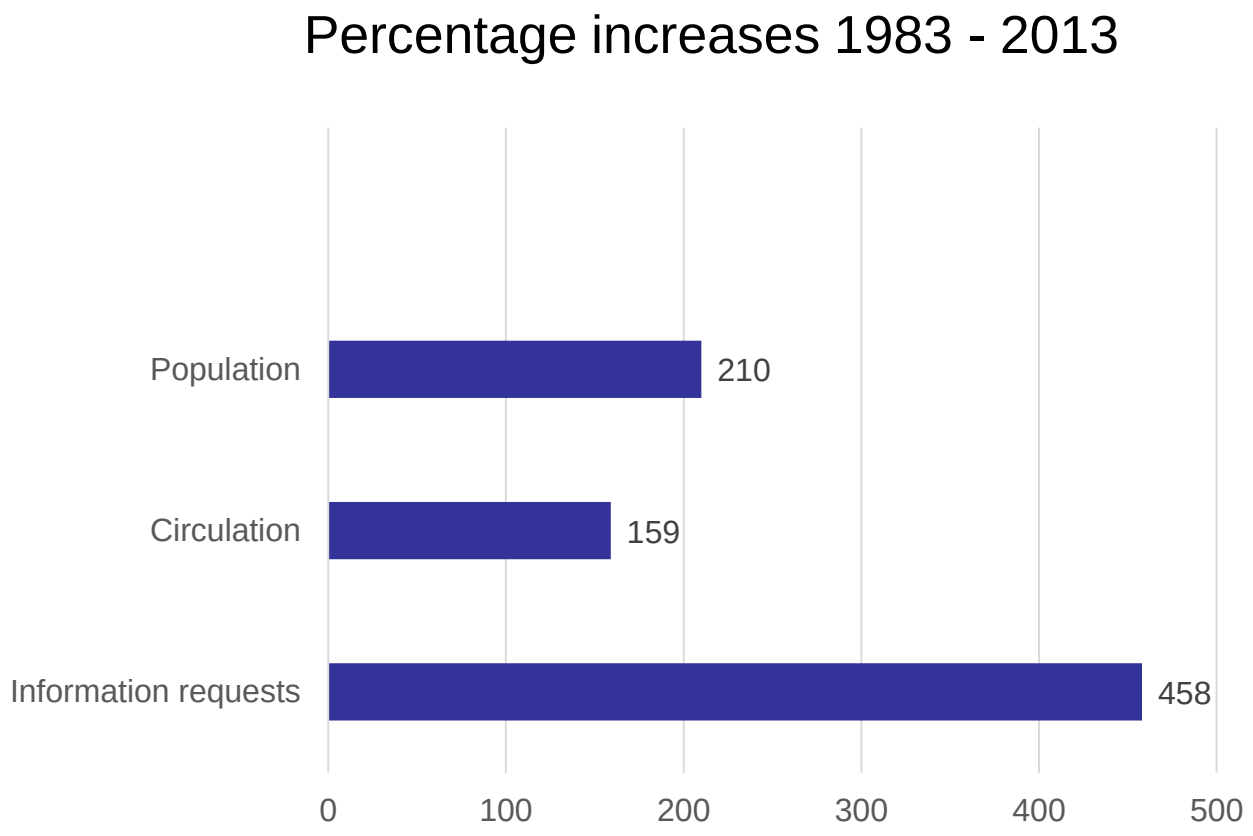
Age
- +33.4% children 0-14
- +21% youth 15-24

Language
- 52% non-English mother tongue

Immigrants/Ethnicity
- 64% born outside of Canada
- 89.7% visible minorities

Malvern

Facts & Figures



Malvern

Responding to our community

Malvern

Passion and Partnerships

Malvern

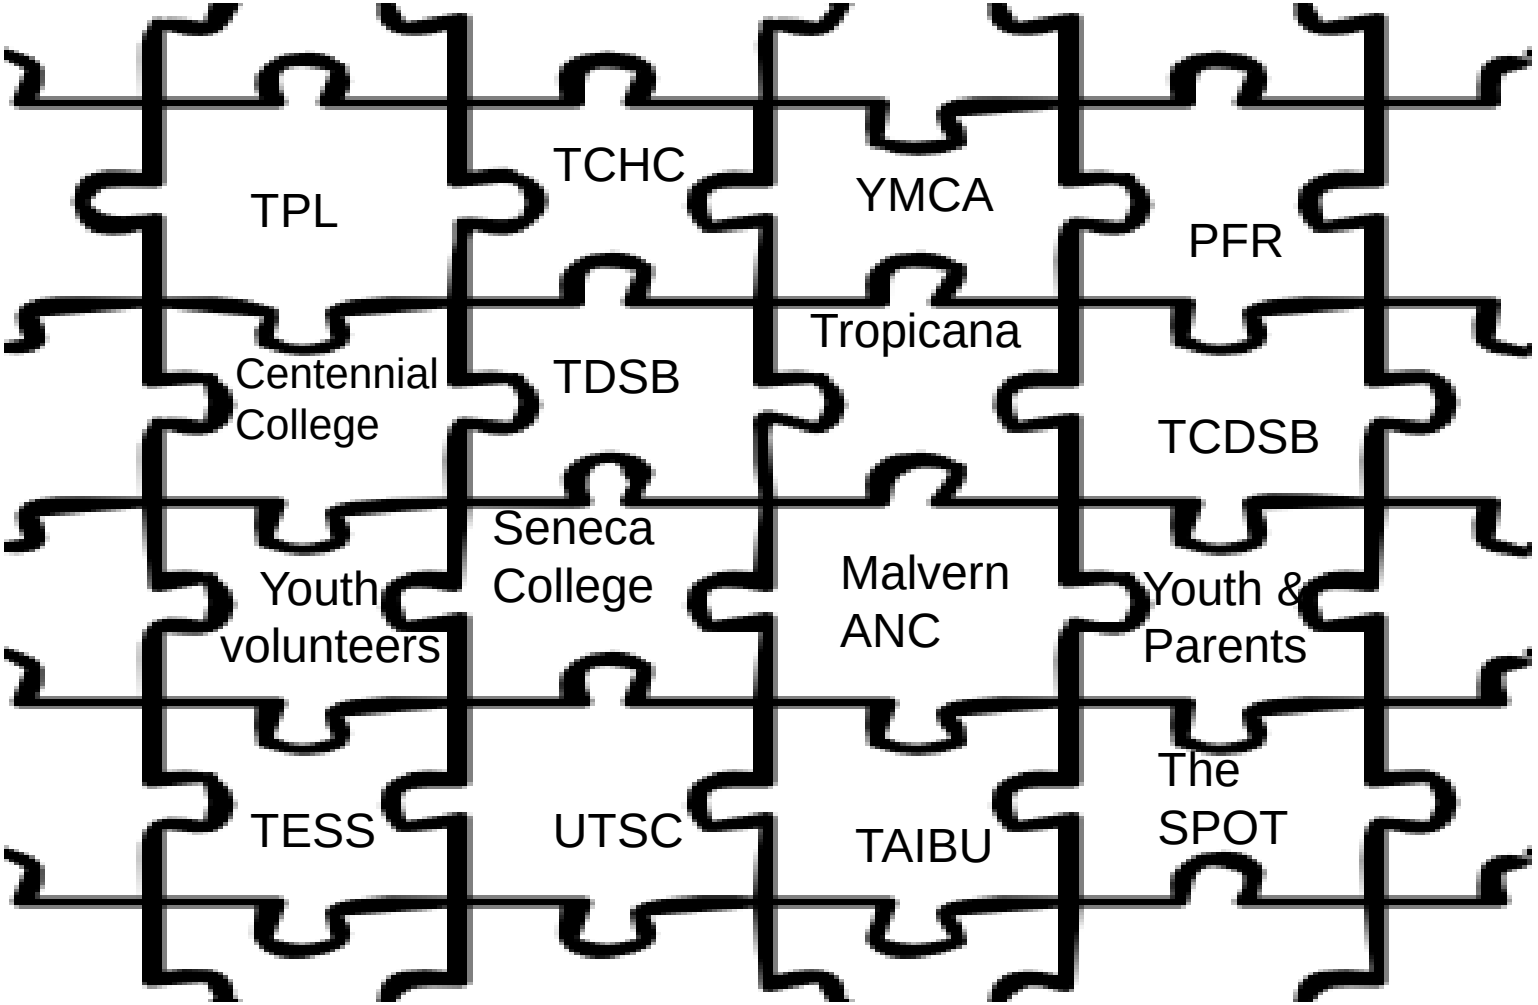
The S.P.O.T. : A collaborative creation

Malvern

The S.P.O.T : Youth-led service for youth

Malvern

Grade 8 Transition Program



Malvern

Some other community partnerships

Malvern Family Resource Centre

- Brain Games Programs for Seniors
- Parent Engagement Symposium

Action for Neighbourhood Change

- Food Security – Urban agriculture and a food themed documentary series

Agincourt Community Services Association

- Citizenship classes

University of Toronto – Scarborough

- Teen homework help; peer mentoring

CHAMP Initiative

- Homework help for children in Grades 1-6

School Boards – TDSB and TCDSB

- Red Maple Battle of the Books

Malvern

Moving forward

Malvern

Moving forward

Malvern

Moving forward